

South Central Association of Blood Banks

Preliminary Program

54th Annual Meeting &
Exhibit Show

April 18-21, 2012

AT&T Conference Center • Austin, Texas

Jose Garcia

54th President, South Central Association of Blood Banks

Welcome to the South Central Association of Blood Banks 54th Annual Meeting and Exhibit show. Austin is not only the capital city for the state of Texas but it is also the "The Live Music Capital of the World". Keeping with that spirit, our theme this year is "Catch the Rhythm...Feel the Beat".

There will be a couple of underlying themes at the Annual Meeting this year, and they are technology and environment. It all starts with the meeting center itself, which is built to the U.S. Green Building Council's Leadership in energy and Environmental Design (LEED) gold certification standards. Staying "connected" will be easier than ever as wireless access is readily available anywhere in the building, perfect for checking out SCABB's new website or "Liking" SCABB's Facebook page.

The exceptional educational offerings this year will provide you with many opportunities to enhance your skillset and knowledge. There will be many sessions on topics such as molecular blood banking, blood utilization, adverse donor reaction, donor retention and reagent validation, just to name a few. You'll also have access to industry leaders as well as the ability to build your professional network.

The exhibit hall at the SCABB Annual Meeting is one of the largest outside of the national shows. Vendors from across the country will be in attendance and will showcase the latest in blood banking technology, tools and equipment. Don't forget that additional educational opportunities are available by attending one of many Industry Workshops or the Oral Abstracts session.

If you're tired of marching to the beat of the same old drum and you're looking to change your tune, you've come to the right place!

Austin - a city known for its many live music venues, as well as being the home of Dell computers. "Keep Austin Weird" is a recurring theme seen throughout the city that represents the city's commitment to supporting local businesses and keeping Austin "funky".

Austin is the fourth largest city in Texas, and capital of the great state of Texas. In the 1980's Austin emerged as a center for technology and business, and today it is home to many companies, high-tech and otherwise: Whole Foods, AMD, Apple, Google, IBM, Intel, Qualcomm, and Dell.

The current official slogan promotes Austin as "The Live Music Capital of the World", and also references the many musicians and live music venues found throughout the Austin area. Austin is also home to the long-running production Austin City Limits.

Explore Austin from the Bob Bullock Texas State History Museum, with its three floors of exhibits and an IMAX theatre, to the music venues on 6th Street and all around town. Shop at the Arboretum, mall, or check out the eclectic shops and great places to eat on South Congress.

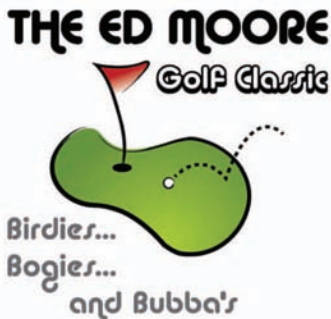

Still want more to see? How about a free trip to the South Congress Bridge to see over 1.5 million Mexican bats swoop into the evening sky? Or take a free trip to the Lyndon Baines Johnson Presidential Library and Museum on the University of Texas campus?

Makes plans to arrive a day early and participate in the Ed Moore Memorial Golf Tournament on Wednesday, April 18. The average temperature in April is 70 degrees- perfect golf weather!

In Austin, April 2012, Catch the Rhythm - Feel the Beat, and get your groove on for the finest educational, networking and resource forum in the industry!

See you there!

Tee off and total up the dollars raised for the SCABB Foundation! This annual outing, named in memory of the late Ed Moore, an original “Bubba” and friend of South Central, is the primary fundraiser for the SCABB Foundation. The Foundation’s sole purpose is to enhance the educational goals of South Central Association of Blood Banks through the offering of scholarships, speaker honorariums, and other program supplementation. Plan now to spend the day with colleagues on the beautiful Riverside Golf Course in Austin!

The format is a 4 person scramble. The fee is $75.00 per player, or $300 for a 4 person team. Cost includes cart, green fees, range balls, box lunch and door prizes. Registration information is available on the annual meeting website at www.scabb.org.

President’s Reception and Awards Banquet

The Blanton Museum of Art at The University of Texas at Austin is one of the foremost university art museums in the country, and has the largest and most comprehensive collection of art in Central Texas. The Blanton’s collection comprises over 17,000 works of art in a variety of mediums, with particular depth in Western European art from the fourteenth through twentieth centuries and modern and contemporary art of the Americas. On Friday, April 20th, the Blanton Museum will host the 2012 SCABB Awards Banquet. The atrium provides an elegant and infusing environment to celebrate the outstanding members of our community and those who have contributed to the sustainability of the association over the years and celebrate their achievements!

Tickets to the banquet are included with full meeting registrations. Additional tickets can be purchased for $50.00 via the annual meeting registration page. Dress is business casual for this event.

The 2012 Karen Williams Memorial Lecturer

HARVEY G. KLEIN, M.D.

has been named the 2012 Karen Williams Memorial Lecturer.

Dr. Klein is Chief, Department of Transfusion Medicine, and has been Special Assistant to the Director for science at the Clinical Center of the National Institutes of Health. Dr. Klein received his medical degree from the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, and completed both his residency and hematology fellowship at The Johns Hopkins Hospital. He remains Adjunct Professor of Medicine and Pathology at Johns Hopkins.

Dr. Klein has authored or co-authored more than 250 publications pertaining to blood transfusion, including transfusion-transmitted disease, the management of immunosuppressive effects of blood transfusion, and the impact of biotechnology on transfusion medicine. He co-authored the latest edition of Mollison's Blood Transfusion in Clinical Medicine, the acknowledged "gold standard" for textbooks in this discipline. Dr. Klein is editor-in-chief emeritus of the Journal of Clinical Apheresis and has served on the editorial board of Blood. He is currently an editor of Transfusion and Transfusion Medicine Reviews.

The Karen Williams Memorial Lecture Award, named to honor the late Karen Williams. Karen was not only a valued member of the SCABB Board of Directors, respected colleague and friend, but she was also a cherished Chiron / Novartis employee who was dedicated to her profession. Karen's leadership and commitment to serving her customers promoted blood safety throughout the country.

To support continuing education in blood safety and to honor Karen's memory, Chiron endowed the Karen Williams Memorial Lectureship. The lectureship, which was funded by the Chiron Foundation and supplemented by Chiron, a Novartis company, was established to facilitate the ability of the South Central Association of Blood Banks to attract highly qualified speakers to the Annual Meeting by providing an annual monetary award to cover travel and conference expenses, and a speaker honorarium.

FUN RUN/WALK

Fit, fun and funky - the 2012 SCABB Fun Run will route you through all that is weird and wonderful in the city of Austin! The Fun Run is scheduled for Saturday morning from 6:30 am - 7:30 am and is open to all meeting attendees. There is no cost to participate however pre-registration is requested.

INDUSTRY WORKSHOPS

Industry Workshops kick start your annual meeting experience! The workshops, presented on Wednesday, April 18th and Thursday, April 19th are sponsored by our vendor partners and are designed to showcase their latest technology, products and services. Attendance at the workshops exposes you to the latest developments in the blood banking and transfusion medicine industry. New to the 2012 meeting is web casting of the Industry Workshops. Look for registration details on www.scabb.org.

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDITS (CEUs)

The 2012 Annual Meeting has been approved as a provider of continuing education programs through the ASCLS P.A.C.E.® program. For PACE credits, the approved courses qualify for 1.5 contact hours each. Participants attending one session in each time block will earn a maximum of 1.5 contact hours. All PACE approved sessions will be indicated by PACE course number beginning with 151.

South Central Association of Blood Banks, in partnership with Oschner Medical Center is accredited by the Institute for Medical Quality to provide continuing medical education for physicians. The South Central Association of Blood Banks takes responsibility for the content, quality and scientific integrity of this CME activity.

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS!

Enhance your resume and your knowledge base by preparing an Abstract for submission at the 2012 South Central Association of Blood Banks Annual Meeting. The Annual Meeting Call for Abstracts is presented by South Central Association of Blood Banks and is open to South Central members and non-members. Abstracts may be from any discipline relating to hospitals, donor centers, cellular therapy, tissue therapy or testing laboratories. Abstracts should be submitted online at www.scabb.org by January 12, 2012. Instructions for submission may be found at www.scabb.org > 2012 Annual Meeting > Call for Abstracts. Anyone interested in submitting an abstract under the guidance of a mentor is encouraged to contact Roberta Murfin, roberta.murfin@childrens.com, co-chair of South Central's valuable Protégé Mentorship Program.

Are you AIMing to go to Austin?

Make plans to join us for the 2012

Advanced Immunohematology & Molecular Symposium

April 21st - 22nd, 2012
Austin, Texas

Here's what you can expect to learn at this two day symposium:

- Understanding the complexities of Rh
- How to differentiate between warm, cold and combo autoimmune hemolytic anemias
- Updates on standards & reimbursement
- What your reagents can and cannot do

Early Bird Registration
Only $200 if registered by March 12, 2012

So head down to AUSTIN for boots, BBQ and blood banking!

→ Understanding the Complexities of Rh

Following the SCABB award winning lectures in the morning, AIMS participants will delve into the Rh blood group. The session will begin with a review of reagents from the human and polyclonal antibodies of the past to the new monoclonal reagents used today. How can you compare the two when classifying "D^u", weak D, partial D, D variants or whatever we call them today? Next will be a review of Rh at the molecular level with special emphasis on variant RHCE genes found more frequently in Blacks. Questions like - "Do we need to genotype match for Rh in sickle cell patients?" will be addressed.

→ Moulds in the Morning

The ever fun session will be minus one Moulds but the vacancy will be adequately filled by internationally recognized immunohematologist Dr. George Garratty. He will present the first John Moulds Memorial Lectureship which will give tips on how to differentiate between warm, cold and combo autoimmune hemolytic anemias and other causes of hemolysis. The lecture on how the monocyte monolayer assay (MMA) can be used to identify clinically significant antibodies and select units for transfusion will be of particular interest to those in a transfusion service. We all keep SOPs and books of reagent manufacturer directions; but have you read them recently? Do you know what your reagents can and cannot do or how they compare to molecular techniques—find the answers in this session.

→ QA & Regulatory

Yes, we know it's a dry topic but with the newly published AABB standards for the IRL and the new Molecular Testing Accreditation Program, inquiring minds need to know! The issue of charging for molecular typing as well as the latest changes in CPT coding will be presented.

Visit www.scabb.org > AIM Symposium often for updates AND to register!
